A small custom car/restoration shop in Florida created this masterpiece. It's a new car built with old coachbuilding techniques—but it utilizes new automotive innovations like disk brakes (Brembo/Wilwood) and a fuel injected engine (BMW V12).

The Sport Speciale weighs only 2230 lbs and pushes out 450hp with an estimated 0-60 time of 3.6 seconds. Its not based on a Ferrari, Maser, Aston or Jaguar from the era but borrows design elements from each, thus creating their own one-off neo-vintage racer. Read more about the shop at thecreativeworkshop.com
